

Unpredictable weather = unpredictable food supply

May 2020 becomes the sunniest calendar month on record

May 2021 Wales' wettest in 160 years

Scan for Met Office climate impacts research

UK drought: Why we need to get used to wonky vegetables
18 August 2022 · Comments

UK potato farmers fear another washout for this year's crop

Fruit and vegetables on the shelves will be smaller and look different summer's hot and dry weather hits crops, experts say.

Drought will cause crop failures in Spain, farmers warn
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS | MADRID
PUBLISHED 5:57 AM ET APR. 13, 2023

UK sees significant drop in yield across all major crops
29 October 2020 | by FarmingUK Team | Arable, News, NFU

The collage includes several images: a man sorting potatoes in a washout, a variety of 'wonky' vegetables (carrots, potatoes, beetroots), a cracked, dry reservoir in Spain, and a combine harvester in a field.